

Well, October was a very busy month. The early part of the month was busy with planning and finalizing my Bat Mitzvah. It was held on October 13 and the service was almost 2.5 hours long. Everyone said I did a great job. After the service about 140 guests descended on the Poughkeepsie Grand Hotel for a cocktail hour and reception. What a great time we all had. Afterward about 40-50 people came back to the house until the wee hours of the morning. Thank you mom and dad for giving me a day I will always remember!!!

Also the book is coming along nicely. Chris is working hard on it and I can't wait to see a finish copy... I know I have to wait until September 2008, just like the rest of you.

Thank you to everyone who has written in and shared a "This IS who I am". I have been posting them as I have received them. If you have not yet posted to this area of my web page or do not even know what this topic is about here is a little info on it, quoted right from my web-page:

"This IS who I am...

Are you an activist, do you volunteer in a soup kitchen, animal shelter, etc? I want to know what you do or have done to make a difference.

I would like to share who you are with everyone. Write to me, care of my blog at <http://itsnotwhoiam.blogspot.com> or email me at SaraElizabeth@itsnotwhoiam.com and let me know what you are all about. I will select emails and blogs and will reprint them right here on my web site so others can see what you do to help make a difference. When reprinting, only first name, age, city and state will be published from your email or blog, if included. Prior to posting your email or blog, it may be edited for length, content, spelling, or otherwise as seen fit by the web master. Email addresses will not be published or shared.

I hope to see this page grow quickly with what everyone is doing to make a difference. Please tell me... "Sara, This IS who I am".

Well if you have not written in yet I really hope you do. I will be using all of these "This IS who I am's" for a future project. Once I have enough I will share more details on the "What's Happening Now" page on my website.

If you know anyone who might have something to add to this area of my page please pass this email on. Maybe a classmate, co-worker, etc.

Don't forget to check out my website for NEW updates. www.itsnotwhoiam.com.

Can't wait to hear from you,

Sara
