

Hello,

Some of my friends and contacts are aware that I have a new web page. While for others this is my first time telling you about it. The page has been updated and has some new features and additions, so I thought I would tell everyone.

This page www.itsnotwhoiam.com is to help promote (primarily) awareness for and my quest to break the stigma associated with epilepsy and (secondary) my love for acting. I hope you will take the time to look around and sign my guest book or visit and write in my blog.

I also ask that you please pass this on to anyone you think might be interested.

Thank you,

Sara-Elizabeth

P.S. Mom and Dad said I need to put their names on this email too... Tanya and Shawn

If you would like to be removed from future mailings please send an email to webmaster@itsnotwhoiam.com with a subject line of "Please Remove".